Re 1),
2) and

- 3) Adoption of the audited annual report and resolution on the allocation of profit Items 1), 2) and 3) were treated as one single item. Chairman of the Board of Directors Jens Borum, and CEO Flemming H. Tomdrup referred to the printed report and commented thereon.

Then, CFO Michael H. Jeppesen referred to the accounts presented along with the proposal for distribution of the profit of the year with a distribution of DKK 12.00 per share and commented thereon.

Following the presentation of the report and the annual accounts, Portfolio Manager Jacob Johansen, ATP, requested leave to speak and commented on Solar's accounts. 2013 was a disappointing year. The year involved several profit warnings and the result is unsatisfactory. Instead of growth and prosperity, the continued negative development of the market entailed regression. Solar 8000 has once again been given a lot of attention both when it comes to work on the system as well as any lack of focus on the day-to-day running. This must unavoidably have affected the financial results. After the successful implementation of SAP in Denmark, it is now possible to focus on the day-to-day running. During the whole project, management has reported about positive effects of € 8-10m. Furthermore, adjustments have been made to the organization, especially in the Netherlands. With the current low level of revenue, all focus must be on improving the revenue and gaining synergies – from Solar 8000 and by general optimisation. It falls on the new management to unleash the potential of Solar. In connection with the resignation of CEO Flemming H. Tomdrup of 1 May 2014, ATP would like to say thank you to Flemming H. Tomdrup for the hard effort, collaboration and rewarding dialogue.

Then the representative of Dansk Aktionærforening, Flemming Kjærulf, requested leave to speak. Flemming Kjærulf thanked the company for a systematic and informative Annual Report. The openness and co-operation of Solar with Dansk Aktionærforening were positively highlighted along with the Annual Report and the Annual General Meeting in Danish. In return, Dansk Aktionærforening stated that the 2013 revenue of Solar was back at the level of 2011, and that revenue was unsatisfactory. Normally, Dansk Aktionærforening does not support a structure with several classes of shares where there is no concord between the number of shares and level of influence. Solar has two classes of shares, A and B shares, and Flemming Kjærulf inquired if Solar and the Fund of 20th December plan to eliminate the two classes of shares. Solar proposes a distribution of dividend of DKK 12.00 per share equivalent of a dividend yield of 421.5 which the shareholders should be pleased about. But half of the amount could have been used by the company to make acquisitions, investments or to reduce payables. Flemming Kjærulf requested that the company briefly account for the liquidity, whether the liquidity could be used for investments and if the Fund had set up demands for a certain dividend. Solar complies with the demands regarding corporate governance reporting by using the comply or explain principle. Regarding the nomination committee, Solar states that due to its ownership structure with a majority shareholder, the company has not appointed a permanent nomination committee to nominate board members; however, the Board of Directors evaluates the need of competencies of the Board of Directors annually. Dansk Aktionærforening recommends that a nomination committee is appointed, potentially with external members. Furthermore, it should be clarified what competencies the Board of Directors considers necessary for the Board of Directors under future conditions. On the other hand, Dansk Aktionærforening agrees with the company in not determining an age limit of the board members as the company considers competencies more important than age. Moreover, Solar has a good description of the remuneration of its management in the Annual Report, which also adds to the degree of transparency. In general, Dansk Aktionærforening is pleased with the reporting of Solar.

Chairman of the Board of Directors Jens Borum thanked Jacob Johansen, ATP, for the presentation. Then the chairman of the Board of Directors thanked representative Flemming Kjærulf of Dansk Aktionærforening for the praise and added that the company attempts, to the extent possible, to comply with the corporate governance recommendations. Regarding classes of shares, there are currently no plans to merge the two share classes into one. The attitude towards classes of shares continues to change, but the company sees it as an advantage to have a majority shareholder. It gives sturdiness and the opportunity for long-term planning. This stability is considered an advantage to the development of the company. Should Solar at some point no longer consider this the case, the Fund of 20th December will not oppose this. The purpose of the Fund is only to support the company in the best way possible. A nomination committee makes good sense in companies without a majority shareholder, but not when there is a majority shareholder as in the case of Solar. The process in Solar is that the Board of Directors annually evaluates which competencies the Board of Directors finds should be present in the Board of Directors and which competencies are currently represented. This is passed on to the Fund, which follows the Board of Directors' recommendations for competencies when selecting candidates for the Board of Directors. The chairman of the Board of Directors estimates that a nomination committee would not add further to the process of nomination. In general, there is a tendency to appoint committees on subjects, which could just as easily be handled by the full Board of Directors. However, an audit committee is an exception of this. Regarding the liquidity, Solar has no plans to make any large acquisitions. Therefore, the company has decided that the liquidity should be returned to the shareholders. This is not a proposal from the Fund of 20th December. CFO Michael H. Jeppesen added that Solar had a strong cash flow in 2013, which is also to be expected in 2014. Solar has no plans for large investments or acquisitions. Solar is currently doing better than the company's own goals for gearing and solidity. Further reduction of debts could be an option, but Solar has no plans to become debt-free. Therefore, Solar has chosen to return the liquidity as dividends to the shareholders.
